

Unit 10 – Reflection

During Unit 10 I mostly worked on my research presentation as the deadline was at the end of this week.

First, I gathered the fundamental theory of deep learning for the listener to better understand the topic. Then I presented my research problem which was the inability of deep learning neuron networks to solve reasoning problems. I created a document that would become my audio transcript, and then I prepared the PowerPoint presentation in which I dictated my text.

Overall Unit 10 was a very different week from the rest of the modules as I never had to record myself before.
