

Unit 7 – Reflection

After a two-week Christmas break, I started my unit 7 preparation. Unit 7 was focused on Estimating, Planning and Risk.

After two weeks of relaxation, I found it tough to concentrate and study, but thankfully this week was not very demanding.

During this week I wrote an e-Portfolio activity regarding the emotional reactions of user experience. In this assignment, I had to write what my response would be to manage the emotional reactions of a customer as a project manager.

This assignment got me thinking about how complicating managing a big project must be.

Overall, unit 7 was a nice transition back to the module from the holidays.
