

Unit 4 – Reflections

During Unit 4, I studied and started working on the concept of regular expressions and evil Regex, the problems associated with its usage and how it can be used as a part of a security solution. As a fairly new member in the computing area, these two concepts seemed extremely confusing, and in an attempt to not let me down, I further researched these and found out that regular expressions are hard for senior developers as well, mostly because of their non-logical syntax.

Furthermore, in the fourth unit, I started collaborating more with my team in order to prepare and organise our assignment due on Unit 6.
