

Unit 10 – Reflections

Unit 10 was a rather busy week as well. Our deadline for our second assignment was fast approaching. During the first half of the week, I was reading about ontologies and their usage, however even after completing my reading and research I still had many questions to be answered.

Furthermore, after the first half of the week, my team and I started working on our actual system coding in order to complete it early and fix any remaining bugs. It was a very stressful week as I was not experienced enough to match the coding requirements and I had to do a lot of research.
