

Unit 1 – Reflection

During Unit 1 of the Software Engineering Project management, I went through all twelve units to note all the requirements. I usually do this in all my modules, in order to sufficiently prepare for all my upcoming assignments.

Additionally, I came in contact with my team to meet each other and set up the communication channels that we will use for the entire module.

Towards the end of the first week, I started researching sources to include in my first Collaborative Discussion post regarding Project failures and the most common reasons projects fail.

Starting a new course felt exciting!
